WHAT DO YOU SEE?

Take a walk in your neighborhood or at a park. What do you see? Do you see bird nests in the trees? Dog houses? What kinds of roofs protect the buildings? Flat, slanted, pointy? Did you see anything else from the book God’s Protection Covers Me? Try to remember what you see. Then, when you get home, ask a grownup to make hot cocoa using the following recipe. While you sip it, make a list of what you saw. That way you will remember the many ways God protects people, animals, and more.

Old-Fashioned Hot Cocoa

Ingredients:
- ¼ cup sugar (or honey or maple syrup)
- 2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa
- Dash salt
- 3 tablespoons hot water
- 2 cups milk (or almond, soy, or cashew milk)
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla
- 12 miniature marshmallows

Directions:
Mix sugar, cocoa, and salt in a saucepan. Stir in hot water. Heat on medium, stirring constantly, until boiling. Boil and stir 2 minutes.

Stir in milk. Heat until warm. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Pour into mugs, and top with marshmallows. Yield: 2 servings
ABOUT THE BOOK

This lively picture book follows a young boy around a farm as he observes different animals and compares their protective shelters to God’s protection. The rhyming text is accompanied by bold, playful illustrations that tell their own story of God’s protection as a rain storm causes the boy to seek shelter of his own. A charming book for young children that demonstrates God’s constant care.

What people are saying about God’s Protection Covers Me:

“A charming book filled with truth that every kid needs to hear. This is my top children’s book pick of the year.”
– Mandy Arioto
President and CEO, MOPS International

“Amy Houts’s gentle poetry soothes and reassures and is the perfect sit-in-your-lap snuggle-up story. The colorful, textured illustrations invite us into homes from burrow to nest and enhance the mood from sunny sun-up to rainy day coziness.”
– Susan Eaddy
Author of Poppy’s Best Paper and Poppy’s Best Babies

“The rhyming text and colorful illustrations beautifully support the simple faith-based message of trusting that God’s protection always surrounds us.”
– Kristi Holl
Author of Finding God in Tough Times
